

MONMOUTH UNIVERSITY

SUMMER COMMENCEMENT

TUESDAY, AUGUST TWENTY-SEVENTH, TWO THOUSAND NINETEEN

2019

WEST LONG BRANCH, NEW JERSEY

THE ACADEMIC PROCESSION AND REGALIA

The commencement ceremony processional begins with faculty marshals designated by the provost leading the faculty who lead the candidates for degree. The platform party follows and consists of members of the president's cabinet, academic school deans, members of the Board of Trustees, commencement speaker, faculty council chair, and the president.

The history of academic dress reaches far back into the earliest days of the oldest universities. A statute of 1321 required that all "Doctors, Licentiate, and Bachelors" of the University of Coimbra wear gowns. In England, in the second half of the fourteenth century, the statutes of certain colleges prescribed the wearing of a long gown. In the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries in Europe, the wearing of a robe often signified a degree candidate's political or religious affiliation; in the northern universities and those of the British Isles, the robes signified that tuition and boarding fees of the wearer had been paid and also entitled him to special immunities in civil law, as well as providing him warmth at lectures and chapel.

When American colleges and universities desired to adopt some suitable system of academic apparel, a conference held at Columbia University in 1895, made up of representatives from various institutions, drew up a "By-Law, Regulation, or Statute" for the establishment of a suitable code of academic dress for colleges and universities in the United States. This code, with modifications made in 1959 by the Committee on Academic Costumes and Ceremonies of the American Council on Education, is still in force; the costumes and colors, trimmings, and patterns you will see are traditional, and interpret both the degree and field of learning. The bachelor's gown, designed to be worn closed, has pointed sleeves; the master's gown, which may be worn open or closed, has an oblong sleeve open at the wrist that hangs down in the traditional manner. The rear part of its oblong shape is square cut, and the front part has the arc cut away. The doctor's gown has bell-shaped sleeves. It may be worn open or closed.

Black is the recommended color for all academic gowns. Bachelor's and master's gowns are untrimmed. Doctor's gowns are faced with black velvet, with three bars across the sleeves; the color of the velvet may also be that which is distinctive to the degree, agreeing with that of the edging of the hood. In the 1960s, many American land-grant universities adopted the British and the Scottish tradition of using the official school color(s) for the robes of their doctoral recipients—for instance, Yale: sky blue; Harvard: crimson; University of Pennsylvania: scarlet and blue; Columbia: slate gray; Rutgers: deep red and black.

The colors you will see in the hoods of our faculty represent the various fields in which the degrees were taken:

Apricot: Nursing	Orange: Engineering
Brown: Fine Arts	Pink: Music
Citron: Social Work	Purple: Law
Crimson: Journalism	Sage Green: Physical Education
Dark Blue: Philosophy	Salmon Pink: Public Health
Golden Yellow: Science	Scarlet: Theology
Green: Medicine	Yellow-Brown: Commerce, Business, Accountancy
Lemon-Yellow: Library Science	White: Arts, Letters, Humanities
Light Blue: Education

The hoods, differing in length for the three degrees—bachelor's, master's, and doctor's—are lined with the official colors of the university or college conferring the degree, usually with one color forming a chevron pattern over the other. Hoods are edged and bound with velvet or the color appropriate for the degree. You will see in our procession many hoods edged with dark blue, representing doctor of philosophy.

Mortarboards are the approved headgear. The tassel, worn on the left side of the cap, may be gold if the holder has a doctor's degree.

Founded in 1933, Monmouth is a private, mid-sized, comprehensive university with a broad commitment to the liberal arts. Monmouth University offers 33 undergraduate and 26 graduate degree programs, including two doctoral programs.

Students benefit from a rigorous academic experience, small classes, and professors who meet the highest standards for scholarship and teaching. Our students participate in more than 120 active clubs and organizations, including 15 fraternities and sororities, six media organizations, and an NCAA Division I athletics program fielding 23 teams.

Monmouth's beautiful 168-acre coastal campus, close to New York City and Philadelphia, includes a blend of historic landmarks and state-of-the-art facilities.

DISTINGUISHED TEACHER AWARD 2019 RECIPIENT

Lisa M. Dinella

Professor of Psychology

Principal Investigator of the Gender Development Laboratory

Director of the Program in Gender and Intersectionality Studies

Lisa M. Dinella is a research scientist who investigates the connection between gender, academic achievement, and career development. Dinella studies children's toy play and media exposure and how gendered experiences shape academic and career pursuits across the lifespan. She is a professor of psychology, the director of the program in Gender and Intersectionality Studies, and the principal investigator of the Gender Development Laboratory at Monmouth University. Her school-based research endeavors led to her edited book Conducting Science-Based Psychology Research in Schools and co-edited book Gender Typing of Children's Toys: How Early Play Experiences Impact Development. Dinella gave an invited address at the White House on gender disparities in children's toys and media. She is a consultant for Sesame Workshop, the nonprofit educational organization behind Sesame Street, and works with global toy companies to help them reduce gender stereotypes for children. Her work has been featured on NPR and PBS.

Dinella's interest in psychology and gender studies started as an undergraduate at The College of New Jersey. Her training in conducting school-based empirical research began at the T. Denny Sanford School of Social Family Dynamics at Arizona State University, where she received her master's and doctoral degrees in family science, with concentrations in marriage and family therapy and child development. Additionally, she was an American Psychological Association/Institute of Education Sciences postdoctoral education research training fellow.

A Message to the Graduates from Lisa M. Dinella

Dear Class of 2019,

Congratulations! It is an honor to celebrate this monumental achievement with you.

Now that you have reached graduation you may be tempted to move quickly, glossing over the time to celebrate in a rush to accomplish your next terrific feat. Please resist that temptation. It makes for a more joyful life when you pause, reflect, and celebrate accomplishing your goals with the enthusiasm it deserves. Today may also be a milestone moment for loved ones who have supported you along your journey. Honor them by celebrating with them. I hope recognizing your achievements, great and small, becomes a routine practice throughout your lifetime.

My parents were first generation college students and dedicated teachers. I can still hear my father's voice saying, "Get an education. It is the only thing they can't take away from you." He was reminding me of the value of an education, but he was also cautioning me that the world was filled with injustice. At the time he could not have known that I would go on to study disparities in education and the workplace. But he and my mother had already raised me to recognize the privilege that was packaged with my diploma. While no one could take away my education, it was also not mine to keep.

The education you have earned here at Monmouth University is meant to be shared. The University has prepared you to build an illustrious career, of course. But just like great teachers refuse to be confined to the classroom, with their lessons spilling out into laboratories, museums, community gardens, and service abroad trips, I hope you will look for creative ways to infuse your education into all your life's endeavors. Share your education with others as a parent, coach, or mentor. Use your education as you protest, petition, or vote. Let your education be your foundation as you build a non-profit organization or run for office. Be generous with your education. It is not yours to keep.

American civil rights movement leader Martin Luther King Jr. spoke at Monmouth College (now University) in 1966. By this time, he had already written the words that I hold dear:

"Life's most persistent and urgent question is, 'What are you doing for others?'"

I could suggest that you ask yourself this question as a way to measure your success, but I am certain you are way ahead of me. I see Monmouth University students pondering this question in the papers they write; it is reflected in their work within the community, and it is present in the careers to which they aspire. I am most inspired and filled with hope for the future when I am with Monmouth University students. I am confident that you will work together to make lasting change in the world.

I wish you a lifetime of great joy as you celebrate all your accomplishments yet to come, great and small.

And please remember: Hawks fly together.

Sincerely,

Lisa M. Dinella, Ph.D.

Dear members of the Class of 2019:

On behalf of the Monmouth University Alumni Association, welcome to the alumni family — a vibrant network that boasts over 53,000 alumni in 50 states.

Today marks a new and exciting chapter in your connection to Monmouth University — one that will continue to grow with your professional and personal development. We want you to remain engaged with your alma mater and share your accomplishments, no matter where your achievements take you.

Stay connected by creating and updating your alumni contact record at monmouth.edu/stayconnected to receive the Monmouth Monthly alumni e-newsletter, invitations to alumni events, networking gatherings, alumni discounts, and for information on how you can become involved with nurturing the Hawks who will follow in your footsteps.

In the meantime, we look forward to personally welcoming you to the alumni association on Saturday, October 19 during our annual Homecoming Alumni Tailgate Party. Congratulations once again!

Karyn Cusanelli '89
President, Alumni Association Board of Directors

THANK YOU

The Class of 2019 Giving Campaign, which garnered over 400 participants, exists to educate new graduates on the vital need to raise private support from alumni, which makes Monmouth a stronger, more competitive university. In celebration of the Class of 2019, graduates who have made a gift of $20.19 or more to Monmouth are recognized by wearing a blue, white, and gold philanthropy cord, symbolizing their leadership commitment and philanthropic pride.

Today, the below list celebrates summer graduates from the Class of 2019 who participated as a donor to this campaign* regardless of the amount.

Nikole Andre
Gianna McColgan
Faisal Syed

The above list includes summer graduates who have made a gift between July 1, 2018 – June 30, 2019.*
