ACADEMIC REGALIA

The history of academic dress reaches far back into the earliest days of the oldest universities. A statute of 1321 required that all “Doctors, Licentiates, and Bachelors” of the University of Coimbra wear gowns. In England, in the second half of the 14th century, the statutes of certain colleges prescribed the wearing of a long gown. In the 16th and 17th centuries in Europe, the wearing of a robe often signified a degree candidate’s political or religious affiliation; in the northern universities and those of the British Isles, the robes signified that tuition and boarding fees of the wearer had been paid and also entitled him to special immunities in civil law, as well as providing him warmth at lectures and chapel.

When American colleges and universities desired to adopt some suitable system of academic apparel, a conference held at Columbia University in 1895, made up of representatives from various institutions, drew up a “By-Law, Regulation, or Statute” for the establishment of a suitable code of academic dress for colleges and universities in the United States. This code, with modifications made in 1959 by the Committee on Academic Costumes and Ceremonies of the American Council on Education, is still in force; the costumes and colors, trimmings, and patterns you will see are traditional, and interpret both the degree and field of learning. The bachelor’s gown, designed to be worn closed, has pointed sleeves; the master’s gown, which may be worn open or closed, has an oblong sleeve open at the wrist that hangs down in the traditional manner. The rear part of its oblong shape is square cut, and the front part has the arc cut away. The doctor’s gown has bell-shaped sleeves. It may be worn open or closed.

Black is the recommended color for all academic gowns. Bachelor’s and master’s gowns are untrimmed. Doctor’s gowns are faced with black velvet, with three bars across the sleeves; the color of the velvet may also be that which is distinctive to the degree, agreeing with that of the edging of the hood. In the 1960s, many American land-grant universities adopted the British and the Scottish tradition of using the official school color(s) for the robes of their doctoral recipients—for instance, Yale: sky blue; Harvard: crimson; University of Pennsylvania: scarlet and blue; Columbia: slate gray; Rutgers: scarlet and black.

The colors you will see in the hoods of our faculty represent the various fields in which the degrees were taken:

Apricot: Nursing	Orange: Engineering
Brown: Fine Arts	Pink: Music
Citron: Social Work	Purple: Law
Crimson: Journalism	Sage Green: Physical Education
Dark Blue: Philosophy	Salmon Pink: Public Health
Golden Yellow: Science	Scarlet: Theology
Green: Medicine	Yellow-Brown: Commerce, Business, Accountancy
Lemon-Yellow: Library Science	White: Arts, Letters, Humanities
Light Blue: Education

The hoods, differing in length for the three degrees—bachelor’s, master’s, and doctor’s—are lined with the official colors of the university or college conferring the degree, usually with one color forming a chevron pattern over the other. Hoods are edged and bound with velvet or the color appropriate for the degree. You will see in our procession many hoods edged with dark blue, representing doctor of philosophy.

Mortarboards are the approved headgear. The tassel, worn on the left side of the cap, may be gold if the holder has a doctor’s degree.

Founded in 1933, Monmouth is a private, mid-sized, comprehensive university with a broad commitment to the liberal arts. Monmouth University offers 33 undergraduate and 28 graduate degree programs, including two doctoral programs.

Students benefit from a rigorous academic experience, small classes, and professors who meet the highest standards for scholarship and teaching. Our students participate in more than 120 active clubs and organizations, including 14 fraternities and sororities, six media organizations, and an NCAA Division I athletics program fielding 23 teams.

Monmouth's beautiful 170-acre coastal campus, close to New York City and Philadelphia, includes a blend of historic landmarks and state-of-the-art facilities.

Pedram Daneshgar

Associate Professor of Biology
Marine and Environmental Biology and Policy Program
Principal Investigator of the Plant Ecology Research Laboratory

Pedram Daneshgar, Ph.D., is a plant ecologist with a focus on community and ecosystem ecology. His current research is on coastal forest ecology, specifically examining the impacts of climate change on maritime forest ecosystems in the Mid-Atlantic as well as mangrove ecosystems in the Bahamas. He has worked in several New Jersey ecosystems including cranberry bogs, coastal dunes, salt marshes, and pitch pine forests. At Monmouth University, he primarily teaches botany, ecology, and tropical island ecology for the biology department, as well as courses for first year students and the interdisciplinary studies for elementary education program.

Originally from Wilmington, Delaware, Daneshgar earned his undergraduate degree in biology from the University of Delaware. He then studied climate change and forest ecology for his MS from Saint Joseph's University in Philadelphia. Afterwards, Daneshgar moved to Gainesville, Florida to study invasion ecology in the School of Forest Resources and Conservation at the University of Florida. His experience as an instructor or lab assistant working with undergraduates at all three schools enforced in his love of teaching, which is what brought him Monmouth University.

A Message to the Graduates from Pedram Daneshgar

Dear Class of 2020,

Congratulations! You made it and what an accomplishment. It is such a privilege to celebrate this day with you.

Just as it did for me, I'm sure college went by pretty fast. I know you are looking forward to what's next as I remember feeling enthusiastic to leave college and explore the world. Before you do, first, take a second—take a deep breath and savor what you just accomplished. You are now in elite company. According to a Harvard University study, less than 10 percent of the world has a college degree. Use your valuable education the best way you can to make well-informed decisions and to better serve your community.

Now is also the time to reflect. Think about the sacrifices that had to be made so that you could be here in this moment. Think about all the people that supported you and helped bring you to this moment: family, friends, teachers. Spend time with them. Tell them you appreciate them. Allow them to experience this accomplishment with you. By sharing this moment with your friends, your family, and your teachers, you acknowledge that they were an important part of your journey. What a gift to give those who helped and guided you along the way!

College may be over, but growth and education never end! It is how we become the best versions of ourselves after all. I encourage you to continue to challenge and test yourself, to read, to explore. Make yourself uncomfortable. Step outside of your comfort zone, so that you may learn more about yourself and the world around you. My fondest memories come from experiences I was apprehensive to have, but now am so thankful of the chance I took.

I know this year's commencement does not look how you thought it would. The world is different than it was when you started at Monmouth and the year 2020 is definitely not how you imagined it. There is uncertainty as we experience a global pandemic, a country going through some growing pains that undoubtedly will make it better, and a less-than-ideal job market. Things may seem daunting and intimidating, but to quote the rapper, Drake: "I learned working with the negatives can make for better pictures." We have to treat these uncomfortable times as challenges that will make each of us better and more resilient moving forward. This year has made me more appreciative of family, friends, science, and so many little things I took for granted. Armed with your education and perhaps a new perspective, you can achieve things that will make this world a better place. You can handle whatever comes your way, turning today's negatives into a much better tomorrow.

There is no question that the Class of 2020 has seen adversity unlike any other. It has made you stronger. I, and the rest of your Monmouth Hawk family, look forward to seeing great things from you in the future.

Best wishes,

Pedram Daneshgar, Ph.D.

Dear Members of the Class of 2020:

On behalf of the Monmouth University Alumni Association, welcome to the alumni family – a vibrant network that boasts over 53,000 Hawks in 50 states.

While your final year as a Hawk did not end as you had hoped, know that today marks a new and exciting chapter in your connection to Monmouth University – one that will continue to grow with your professional and personal development. We want you to remain engaged with your alma mater and share your accomplishments, no matter where your achievements take you.

Stay connected by creating and updating your alumni contact record at monmouth.edu/stayconnected to receive the Monmouth Monthly alumni e-newsletter, invitations to alumni events, networking gatherings, alumni discounts, and for information on how you can become involved with nurturing the Hawks who will follow in your footsteps.

Congratulations once again and we look forward to personally welcoming you to the alumni association when it is safe to do so.

Karyn Cusanelli '89
President, Alumni Association Board of Directors
