We Made Our Own Breaks

Provo, Utah

Dear Editors: Less than ten years ago we were on WPA and mighty glad to get that forty-four dollars each month. It kept us from starving. We owed bills everywhere, we were starting a family, we lived in a miserable little house with no conveniences at all. My husband finally got a job as a laborer in a manufacturing plant near here, and now he is a second-class machinist; not as a result of luck or outside help, but of hard work and an ambition to get out of debt. We are out of debt, we own a car we just made our last payment on. The only help we had was from other. We didn't get any "breaks." We have learned, as everyone else does or later, that a good life, a good marriage, security have to be worked for. You to want them enough to be willing without a lot of things, to make one do the work of two, to overlook and e. You have to keep an eye on the life you want for yourselves. Very few people are lucky (or unlucky) to have a place made for them in the world; a good life is not a result of a materialized, but of two people working together to make it so.

Very sincerely yours,

MRS. C. E. GARDNER.
