PAN AMERICAN'S JOE WULLER is chief of the "Beaching Crew" at the famous Miami base where the big, ocean-flying Clippers take off for the West Indies, Central and South America. Signaling with his arms and his whistle to direct the actions of 21 men, a tractor and a motor boat, Joe takes over each Clipper as she glides to a landing. "Babying" it every minute, he inches it out of the water and into the hangar for a thorough overhaul; then launches it again, ready for another trip to a foreign port.

Joe Wuller's job calls for skill and alertness at all times. Here's what he has to say about breakfast: "You've got to keep your eyes open when you're beaching or launching one of our big Clippers. I found that the breakfast that helps keep me in there pitching is a bowl of Kellogg's Corn Flakes with fruit and plenty of cool milk. It's a great favorite here at the employees' cafeteria, too."
