

O. SOGLOW

1960 R.D.

Am I an Grand

A declaration of "n

Condensed from Vassar Alumnae M

JUST WAIT till you have grand-children," my friends said to me. "Mine are the most adorable, the most intelligent . . ." well, you know the rest.

And so I awaited my first grandchild with great happiness. In the pattern set for grandmothers, I could take care of my daughter's mother husband when she came home from the hospital, and I would be sure that my child was committed to care for her child, with loving help and instruction. To my beloved ones making demands for time and energy is supposed to give a 51-year-old grandmother a new lease on life.

TRAIN WORCESTER, wife of a New York lawyer, is the daughter of the late Mr. Train, famous author of the "Mr. Short stories and books.

Vassar Alumnae Magazine (December)
Vassar College, Alumnae