

estimated at over $100 (figure ne's use or "occupancy," convert the garage you to your house.

can 24 inches.

can four feet high.

electricity, either inside or out any more than six feet high irrigation system.

or flagpole will exceed 45 prices: your original fee—the average home project the works.

Recently I surveyed a resident whose $15,000 to $20,000 had been built within the pass. The owners had put up ences and new room addition and had bothered to apply for a building permit, and fully realized the projects violated building codes enough to warrant city action. The owner had installed light switches, every one of

of which was illegal under the local code.

When a fire marshal had blamed the fire on a defective switch for scores of other homes, another homeowner had constructed a garage in his front yard, a site which was illegal under most zoning regulations. Building codes exist for your protection and safety—and for your neighbor's, too. In most cities, the next door is not per-face it, Mom! You just have to forgive bacon-snitchers Swift's Premium Bacon... sugar cured and lean as can be and still be bacon!

The two most trusted
words in meat.
Our 105th year.