

- 11. fragrant—A: Sweet-smelling; having a pleasant odor; as, a fragrant rose. Fragrare (to emit an odor).
- 12. insolvent—C: Bankrupt. Solvere first meant "to set free." So, if a person is insolvent, he is "not free," but bound by his debts.
- 13. translucent—D: Semi-transparent; letting light pass, but diffusing it so that objects on the opposite side cannot be distinguished. Frosted glass is translucent. Translucere (to shine through), from trans (across) and lucere (to shine).
- 14. pertinent—A: Relevant; related to the matter being considered; apt; as, a pertinent question. Pertinere (to reach to).
- 15. indignant—A: Angry at whatever is unjust, unfair or disgraceful; as, an indignant speech. Late Latin indignari (to be angry because of some unworthy act).
- 16. fluent—A: Speaking easily. Fluere means "to flow." When you speak fluently, your words flow smoothly and easily.
- 17. migrant—D: Wandering; roving; a migrant worker moves from place to place. Migrare (to migrate).
- 18. exorbitant—B: Excessive beyond what is normally expected and proper; extravagant; as, exorbitant demands. Church Latin exorbitare (to deviate) comes from ex (out) and orbita (wheel-rut, track).
- 19. prudent—D: Wisely careful. A prudent administrator is cautious, discreet, foresighted. Providere (to see at a distance).
- 20. benevolent—C: Kind, generous; desiring whatever is good for others. Bene (well) and velle (to wish). A benevolent uncle wishes you well.
