

How to Make Fun of Hors d'oeuvres

#4 in a series from La Choy®

We'd like to show you how to make fun of hors d'oeuvres. After all, the Chinese have been doing it for hundreds of years. In a country where the common greeting translates "Have you eaten?" it's not surprising that cuisine is the centerpiece of entertaining. And an important lesson we've learned from Chinese tradition is to keep foods simple when entertaining.

Like egg rolls. In China they're traditional New Year's food, but you can serve them all year round. Since they're quick and easy to prepare, crispy La Choy® Egg Rolls are fantastic for snacks as well as for unexpected guests. So forget about the chips and dip, and have our shrimp, chicken, meat & shrimp or lobster egg rolls instead.

And for dipping La Choy Egg Rolls, La Choy Sweet & Sour Sauce is wonderful right from the jar. Or for a little adventure try any of our seven versatile new sauces.

Rumaki Teriyaki is simple to make as well. Wrap cooked bacon around whole La Choy Water Chestnuts, and glaze with new La Choy Thick & Rich Teriyaki Sauce, then broil until bacon crisps.

So go ahead and make fun of our hors d'oeuvres. That's what the spirit of entertaining is all about.

©1987 Bearco/Hunt-Wesson, Inc.

A Welcome Departure.

Beatrice Foods
Box 1

COLLAR