Department Chair Welcome

Dear Students:

Welcome to the School of Education's Educational Counseling and Leadership Department at Monmouth University. Our mission statement and program philosophy support the core concepts of professional counseling across the lifespan with specializations in schools and universities. The curriculum of courses, clinical skills, and emphasis on social justice will prepare you for the culminating fieldwork experiences as an intern, appropriately placed in school/university settings. The courses in counseling reflect systematic design for each student to demonstrate competencies in school counseling, student affairs/college counseling, ethics, racial identity awareness, crisis intervention, and career planning. Currently, both programs (school counseling & student affairs/college counseling) have met all eligibility requirements for accreditation by the Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs (CACREP) through 2025. One of the central functions of the program manual is to acclimate you to our Counseling program’s policies, guidelines, and procedures for fieldwork. Be sure to read and refer to our program manual for information and resources. We offer a student orientation program every semester in addition to regularly scheduled meetings with faculty advisors. Along with semester progress meetings, you have a faculty advisor that can assist you during your counselor training and discuss your counselor development, graduation, career planning and professional networking.

This manual provides information on the necessary preparation needed for receiving endorsement and certification as either a School Counselor, Student Assistance Coordinator, or Director of School Counseling Services in the state of New Jersey. In addition, this manual also focuses on the Master of Science degree in Education in Student Affairs and College Counseling. I encourage you to utilize the resources within the program to best facilitate your academic planning and professional growth as counselors.

Welcome to the profession of counseling!

Sincerely,

Walter D. Greason

Graduate Program Director Welcome

Dear Educational Counseling Students:

It is an honor to serve as your new Graduate Program Director, and to welcome everyone to a new academic year with exciting possibilities. As for our new students, we are extremely pleased that you chose to allow us to be a part of your professional development journey in graduate school. To our returning students, welcome back and congratulations on another successful academic year! Whether you are a new or returning student, please note that you have a robust and dynamic faculty ready to encourage and challenge you as you prepare to become competent social justice counselors. I am especially excited to report that we will move into the final phase of our 4-year plan to fully integrate the multicultural and social justice advocacy competencies into our complete curriculum. In this manual and on each of your syllabi, you will see our social justice advocacy statement which serves as the foundation for our program. This speaks to our program’s strong commitment to social justice and advocacy and to our overall mission as a program.

Last year we launched our annual Social Justice Symposium that featured Tim Wise as our guest presenter. We anticipate another inspiring and enlightening social justice presenter this Spring. In addition, we look forward to working alongside our students in January for a day of service, during the national day of service. I encourage you to embrace every opportunity to get connected and make a difference in our communities.

As you transition throughout this academic year, I encourage you to move beyond your comfort zone, think critically about what you learn both in and outside of the classroom, and continue to reflect upon the ways in which you are building your counselor identity. This manual should be used as your academic planning guide and should address any questions you might have related to all aspects of the program, curriculum, field placements, and additional graduation requirements. In addition, we have included a thorough guide to APA writing. It is imperative that you become familiar with APA style, as it is critical to your success at the graduate level.

I look forward to your continuous growth during this process of becoming a competent social justice advocate Counselor/Student Affairs professional. Let’s embrace every opportunity to create new legacies in this 2019-2020 academic year!

Sincerely,

Dr. Vernon L. S. Smith

EDUCATIONAL COUNSELING PROGRAMS OVERVIEW

Statement of Philosophy

Professional counseling and advising in school and universities are presented to address the unique challenges and developmental stages individuals encounter in their educational experience. School counselors and student affairs professionals assist students with practical strategies and skills that are designed to help them reach career goals and maximize their potential success.

The goals of the Counseling Programs at Monmouth University are to foster professional growth and development of students who aspire to be exceptional school counselors, student affairs professionals or college counselors. The components of our program goals incorporate a knowledge base of theoretical counseling applied to school and university students from converging identities. Program faculty are competent using innovative teaching approaches that integrate current research studies in professional counseling and student affairs. The counseling program is committed to providing a thorough understanding of human behavior and emotional well-being as it relates to optimal functioning for students in K-12 and university settings. The overarching philosophy of the program is student-centered and results driven while implementing a personal approach that addresses the individual goals and professional aspirations for our students.

About Counseling Programs

The Monmouth University School Counseling program is fully endorsed and certified by the New Jersey Department of Education and the Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs (CACREP, 2009). Program faculty demonstrate strong identities as competent professionals focusing on students’ journey towards self-awareness, personal and professional development, as well as transformational learning. Concurrently, program faculty engage students in immersive experiences that are intentional within the curriculum. Students practice ethical decision-making, career counseling, and crisis intervention approaches in schools and universities. These learning experiences are utilized to meet the standards and objectives for school counseling and student affairs. To that end, the school counselor specialization prepares students to become skilled counselors ready to deliver comprehensive, developmental school counseling programs to all students. The Student Affairs and College Counseling specialization prepares students to become proficient in the implementation of student affairs services or college counseling.
Accreditation

The accreditation of universities and counseling programs is completely voluntary. Universities and programs choose to seek accreditation in order to ensure that their academic programs meet the highest standards and established by academics, professionals, and counseling associations throughout the United States.

In addition to the general credibility of CACREP accredited programs aligned to national standards, there are some very concrete advantages graduates have from a CACREP-accredited graduate program in counseling. These advantages include being able to take the National Counselor Examination (NCE) and apply for and become a National Certified Counselor (NCC) upon graduation from the master’s degree programs without having to complete two years of post-graduation supervised experience (as is required for those who graduate from master’s degree programs that are not CACREP accredited). Many career opportunities offer preferences for candidates who have graduated from CACREP accredited graduate programs, who are NCCs, and who are licensed as professional counselors. All of these benefits can be realized more easily by graduating from a CACREP accredited program in counseling.

The Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs (CACREP, 2009) provides leadership and promotes excellence in professional counseling programs across the United States. As an accrediting body, CACREP (2009) is committed to the development of standards and procedures that reflect a culturally diverse society. The Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs is dedicated to promoting the development and improvement of counselor preparation programs. This preparation is designed to provide competency-based training consistent with optimal human development (CACREP, 2009). Our school counseling program and student affairs/college counseling programs are accredited through 2025. Each component of the CACREP standards is integrated throughout program courses, policies, and procedures.

In the School of Education, all degree programs in the Monmouth University School of Education are accredited by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE). Some states offer special consideration to graduates of NCATE accredited programs when they apply for state licensure or certification as school counselors. Monmouth University is accredited by the regional accrediting agency, the Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools. All state counseling licensure boards and school counselor certification agencies require that students hold graduate degrees from universities that are regionally accredited. In addition, most jobs require that graduate degrees be granted from accredited universities.
Program Commitment to Multicultural and Social Justice Advocacy

The Educational Counseling Program at Monmouth University, at its core, is a social justice advocacy program. The Program is committed to maintaining an environment that recognizes and values the diversity within society including but not limited to the areas of race, religion, color, sex, age, socioeconomic status, national origin or ancestry, marital status, parental status, gender identity, sexual orientation, ability status, health status, or veteran status. As such, the program is committed to training each counseling student to become a social justice advocate through self-awareness, understanding, knowledge, and advocacy skills. Aligned with the Program’s goal of training counseling students as advocates, the Program seeks to develop and nurture diversity. The Program’s beliefs are that advocacy is forefront in student’s education, emphasizing an advocacy role in all of counseling. By the year 2020, the Educational Counseling Program’s strategic plan will include the integration of the Multicultural and Social Justice Competencies throughout the entire program curriculum. The fourth and final phase of this plan is currently underway.

Social justice advocacy is a critical component of the Educational Counseling Program and relevant to all counseling courses. In all courses, you are to reflect the Multicultural and Social Justice Standards of the counseling profession. Each course provides a basis for all other courses in the program and facilitates multicultural perspectives, highlighting awareness, understanding, and knowledge of diversity and social justice issues. Throughout the program, any verbal or written communication should be consistent with the respect and appreciation and acceptance that are the foundation of the counseling profession. Further, actions and language should reflect the ACA Human Rights Committee’s 1987 statement on tolerance. In order to guarantee that each individual is free to pursue his/her potential, each member of ACA is charged to (a) engage in ongoing examination of his/her own attitudes, feelings, stereotypic views, perceptions and behaviors that might have prejudicial or limiting impact on others; (b) contribute to an increased sensitivity on the part of other individuals, groups or institutions to the barriers to opportunity imposed by discrimination; (c) advocate equal rights for all individuals through concerted personal, professional, and political activity.

Evidence of our commitment to social justice was marked with the launch of the Annual Social Justice Symposium in Spring 2019, where Tim Wise was the featured guest speaker. The symposium provides another opportunity for training in diversity and social justice for our students, the university and the immediate community.
Recruitment of Diverse Students

Monmouth University’s commitment to diversity is evident in its Mission Statement and Strategic Plan. The mission statement reads as follows:

“Monmouth University is an independent, comprehensive institution of higher education committed to excellence and integrity in teaching, scholarship, and service. Through its offerings in liberal arts, science, and professional programs, Monmouth University educates and prepares students to realize their potential as leaders and to become engaged citizens in a diverse and increasingly interdependent world.”

Housed within the School of Education, the Counseling program’s faculty continuously strives to recruit a more diverse student body. Below are the guidelines:

1. The program faculty coordinate and support the Monmouth Future Scholars program, an academic mentoring program with the goal of increasing the numbers of low-income, first generation students graduating from high school. It is a pre-college bridge program that targets the 6th through 12th grade population of students in Long Branch Public School District. The program partners with the middle school and high school, and provides participants with valuable experiences that will hopefully lead to acceptance to Monmouth University. Its goal is to assist program participants in gaining access to higher education, particularly Monmouth University, and entering a career in the field of education or human services to become agents of social change. Educational Counseling interns work directly with student participants in group and individual format, using a college and career readiness curriculum supported by the American School Counselor Association (ASCA) and the College Board. Numerous Educational Counseling students volunteer during the annual Monmouth Future Scholars Campus Immersion Day. This prepares students to work with historically underrepresented college bound students.

2. The program faculty assisted in recruiting diverse speakers such as Lee Mun Wah, who presented the keynote address on cultural diversity at Monmouth University School of Education in Spring, 2011. This information is included in our Educational Counseling Programs brochure and distributed to college advising centers, Schools of Education, and undergraduate Psychology programs throughout the State of New Jersey. In addition, the program launched the Annual Social Justice Symposium in Spring 2019 where prominent diverse social justice presenters will be featured each academic year.

3. The program faculty offers incoming undergraduate students the option of combining their undergraduate program (in Psychology) with a Master’s in School Counseling or Student Affairs and College Counseling.

4. The program faculty share program information with school counselors and student affairs professionals in the local area to recruit diverse students.

5. The program faculty support diversity initiatives and awareness efforts of program faculty by including highlights of their national and local presentations at national conferences. These presentations are included in the current graduate brochure. Additionally, this brochure is shared with Graduate Admissions, which is included in the recruitment package.
ENTRY-LEVEL PROGRAM INFORMATION

Overview of Programs

The entry-level program in school counseling is a 48-credit curriculum that focuses on the preparation of professional school counselors and student affairs professionals. The New Jersey Department of Education has endorsed Monmouth University School of Education as an administrative liaison for the certification of students pursuing school counseling certification. School counseling students successfully completing the program will receive a New Jersey Department of Education Certificate for School Counseling.

The entry-level program in student affairs and college counseling is a 48-credit curriculum that focuses on the preparation of professional student affairs and college counselors. Students who successfully complete the program will be able to apply for positions at the college and university levels. Currently, there is no certification or licensure that exists for student affairs professionals.

The Substance Awareness Coordinator Endorsement program is intended for candidates who want to be certified as Substance Awareness Coordinators. After completion of the program, these candidates will meet the New Jersey requirements for certification as a SAC Coordinator.

In addition, we offer a Director of School Counseling endorsement, which is designed for students interested in becoming a student services administrator (K-12). These students will meet the New Jersey requirements for certification once the program and three years of successful service as a School Counselor have been completed.

ADMISSION POLICIES FOR EDUCATIONAL COUNSELING PROGRAMS

The program’s admission criteria are developed collaboratively with program faculty and Graduate Admissions. The admission criteria are available for review by prospective students on the Admission for Graduate Students website and in the Graduate Catalog. In addition to the standard admissions application, criteria also include participation in an on-campus group interview. After a thorough review of application materials and participation in the on-campus interview, program faculty make final admissions decisions. Program faculty review the criteria for admission every two years. The retention policy in the Counseling programs reflects satisfactory student performance as stated by Monmouth University. Candidates must maintain a grade point average of 3.0 in all courses in the program. If a candidate fails to maintain of 3.0 or better, or accumulates as many as three credits of B-, C, C-, or F, the Graduate School’s Academic Standards and Review Committee reviews his/her academic record.
The Graduate School has established a warning system for students. A warning is issued if a student attains one B-, C+, C- and the GPA is below 3.0 and/or two grades of B-, C+, C- and the GPA is above 3.0. A probationary status is given to candidates who attain B-, C+, or C- in two courses and have a GPA below 3.0. Candidates also receive probationary status if they have three grades of B-, C+, or C- and a GPA above 3.0. A candidate is dismissed if he/she attains three grades of B-, C+, or C- and has a GPA below 3.0 or a fourth grade of B- or below with any GPA. In addition, if a candidate receives a grade of F, the Graduate School gives probationary status. One grade of below B after the F warrants dismissal. Dismissed candidates can appeal their dismissal through the Graduate School’s Academic Standards and Review Committee. In addition, questions regarding specifics of the program admissions process are directed to Dr. Nicole Pulliam, Program Director or Dr. John Henning, Dean of the School of Education. The Program Director of Counseling programs meets with every new student to discuss the general requirements and dispositions needed to become a counselor or student affairs professional. The program faculty implements a careful examination of the application, personal statement, and reasons why the applicant wishes to become a school counselor or student affairs professional. All applicants must include letters of recommendation which convey their interpersonal skills and potential for the program.

Potential student aptitude is determined through their undergraduate work or other Master’s work performance, as well as personal statements. Monmouth University does not require students to take the Graduate Recorded Examination (GRE) as part of the admission requirements. Potential students provide technological understanding by their ability to complete and submit the online application form. Program faculty rate and determine how each prospective student would fit with the goals and objectives of the Counseling programs. In addition, potential students contact faculty members regarding the program. During these conversations, faculty members are able to ascertain whether students are best suited for a Counseling program or should be referred to a related program to best fit their strengths. This is an important component for program faculty, because it determines whether students will strive to be the best counselors they can be.

Monmouth University offers rolling admissions each semester for our Counseling programs. Each application is submitted to the Graduate Admissions Office and forwarded to the faculty for interview consideration. Admissions decisions are made following participation in the on-campus interview. Program faculty members discuss the relative merits and commitment to social justice of the applicants to determine acceptance into the Counseling program.

The School of Education (SOE) was established in 1995 to broaden and increase support for Monmouth University’s education endorsement programs. The mission of the School is to provide highly effective programs to prepare practitioners who can help all students to learn in diverse school and university settings. The School seeks to foster collaboration and partnerships among University faculty, students, staff, school practitioners, and community representatives to improve student achievement. Endorsement programs are rooted in the belief that all students can learn and are guided by four key themes: (1) the importance of both pedagogical and content knowledge and a commitment to lifelong learning, (2) an emphasis on collaboration and partnerships with schools and local communities, (3) the important role played by cultural diversity and individual differences in the teaching/learning process, and (4) the need to develop educational leadership skills consistent with professional ethics. The Department of Educational Leadership, School Counseling, and Special Education offers a Master of Science in Education degree and graduate endorsements in Substance Awareness Coordinator and Director of School Counseling Services. The SOE endorsement programs have been revised to correlate to state and national curriculum standards and research-based best practices designed to improve student learning. Programs are designed to improve each student’s critical thinking, communication, and problem-solving skills as these apply to K-12 and university settings.

The School’s educational programs also integrate state-of-the-art computer technologies that can be applied in K-12 classrooms, school administration, and higher education. The School has its own computer lab and offers courses that are both online and web-enhanced. The School’s graduate faculty members are experienced practitioner-scholars whose teaching reflects the most recent theory research that students can apply as best practices in diverse school and university settings. All programs incorporate integrated field internship experiences to enable candidates to work with students in school and university settings.

CERTIFICATIONS

National Counselor Exam

To earn the NCC (National Certified Counselor) designation, all students are encouraged to concurrently take the CPCE with the NCE. The NCE is offered with the Department of Psychological Counseling each October and April. National certification can be a continuing source of career enhancement and pride for counseling professionals. It demonstrates to clients and employers that a professional counselor has met national standards. Information about the NCE is distributed to all students during the annual semester orientation and via e-mail announcements to all students. This is an online exam and is taken off site. Assistance with registration can be provided as needed.

Questions regarding the NCE can be directed to Dr. Alyson Pompeo-Fargnoli.

School Counseling Students

Students who plan to work as school counselors should become certified as school counselors by the state department of education in the jurisdiction in which they plan to live and work. All School Counseling students are certified in New Jersey through the School of Education in Internship II (602).

Student Affairs & College Counseling

While no licensure or certification exists within the profession of student affairs, students can pursue an LPC in addition to their degree if they plan to work in a college counseling center. Those students interested in College Counseling apply for a Post-Masters Certificate in Professional Counseling.
STUDENT DISPOSITION REVIEW PROCESS

As reflected in the Council of Accredited Counseling and Related Programs (CACREP, 2009), the accreditation process and the Monmouth University School of Education policy are consistent in that all students are reviewed and evaluated to determine progress and professional disposition using a disposition form survey. All students are evaluated on a monthly basis and faculty members identify students demonstrating concerns at the bi-weekly program meeting. Program faculty document these concerns and gather information to create an appropriate plan of action collaboratively.

Once a concern has been identified, a disposition review plan will be set into action. The following procedures may be implemented in Fall, Spring or Summer semesters. The steps will be implemented until a final resolution is completed.

ACADEMIC CONCERNS AND ADMISSION APPEAL POLICY

Graduate students (or potential graduate students) may appeal any of the following:

1. Admission decision
2. Course grade
3. Alleged unfair practice, discrimination or bias

Process: This process is sequential and must be completed in this order. Any student academic concerns, that are personal in nature, should be directed in the following manner consistent with university protocol: (1) faculty member related to concern, (2) Program Director, (3) Department Chair, (4) Dean of School of Education, (5) Graduate Studies. Failure to comply will result in return to Step #1.

Regarding complaints about a grade, per the Monmouth University Graduate Catalog (p. 47):

A student who wishes to file a complaint about a course grade should attempt first to resolve the matter through a discussion with the faculty member who taught the course in question. If the faculty member is unable to resolve the matter, the student may contact the department chair in writing, stating the basis of the complaint. Such complaints should be sent to the appropriate department chair within six weeks following the receipt of final grades. A student who is not satisfied with the decision of the department chair may appeal the decision in writing to the dean of the school housing the course. The decision of the academic dean is final.

1. Provide Written Appeal to the Instructor

If the matter is related to an academic grade, the student must initiate contact with the Instructor to discuss his/her reasons for appealing an academic grade. If the matter remains unresolved, it skips the Program Director is addressed directly to the department chair.

If there are matters related to unfair practice, the student should seek resolution directly with the faculty member and then if the matter remains unresolved, the student should proceed to Step 2.

If the matters are related to admissions, the student should seek resolution directly to the Program Director.

2. Provide a Written Appeal to Program Director

The student must contact the Program Director with appeals related to admissions, alleged unfair practice, discrimination or bias. If the student is dissatisfied with the result, s/he may appeal to the Department Chair.

3. Provide a Written Appeal to Department Chair

The student must submit a written statement of appeal to the Department Chair. It is the student’s responsibility to provide a clear and concisely written statement of the appeal and to provide all relevant documentation. If the student is dissatisfied with the result, s/he may appeal to the Dean of the School of Education.

4. Provide a Written Appeal to Dean of the School of Education

The student must contact the Dean’s office for policies and procedures related to the appeal process.

5. Provide a Written Appeal to Graduate College

The student must initiate a written appeal within 60 calendar days of the last day of the semester when appeal process was initiated.
STUDENT ORIENTATION & ACADEMIC ADVISING PROCESS

Once students are offered initial acceptance, they are contacted to set up a meeting with the Program Director to discuss the general requirements of the program. Basic information is distributed to all new students during our semester orientation. To illustrate, each student receives the School Counseling, Student Affairs & College Counseling Programs Manual during the orientation session held each semester. All program faculty deliver presentations at the orientation to the students regarding requirements of the Counseling Program.

Each student is assigned a faculty advisor who will help the student select courses and provide general advisement with regards to their academic plan of study. The academic advising and initial registration process is sequential and a student must be followed. All new students will meet with the Program Director, Dr. Vernon Smith first and then with their assigned advisor. SACC students will be assigned to one of the specific track faculty. The student will send a program plan to their advisor and the Program Director.

Student Academic Advising and Registration Process:

1. Student is admitted to one of the programs in Educational Counseling (SC, SACC, SAC, DSC). Faculty maybe in contact with students for the purposes of recruitment prior to admission.

2. Student meets with the Program Director to discuss program expectations and complete a Program Plan/Worksheet.

3. If there is transfer of credits, the Program Director will work with the Department Chair to determine eligibility. Currently, students may only transfer up to 9 credits. Current students may not take course elsewhere.

4. Student meets with their Faculty Advisor.

5. Student will be continually advised by the Faculty Advisor for succeeding semester during program of study.
FOLIOTEK® PROCEDURES

Foliotek is the School of Education’s electronic portfolio system, which was adopted beginning in Fall 2005. All students are required to purchase and use the portfolio system. Students upload their core program assessments into Foliotek, and faculty determines whether a student has met, not met, or reached target on the identified elements/standards. Foliotek can be accessed via eCampus. Any student who needs assistance should contact our Foliotek administrator at foliotek@monmouth.edu. Refer to appendix for additional instructions.

COMPREHENSIVE EXAMINATION (CPCE)

Students in the MSEd Educational Counseling programs in school counseling or student affairs/college counseling programs must pass the Counseling Preparatory Certification Examination (CPCE) in order to be able to graduate. The CPCE was developed by the National Board for Certified Counselors (NBCC) and is used by the Educational Counseling programs as an exit requirement and a comprehensive examination for students to obtain their degree.

The CPCE examines the same eight content areas as the National Counselor Exam (NCE), the CPCE also serves to prepare students for the NCE. The CPCE has 160 questions, with 20 questions in each of the eight content areas. A passing score is 70 and above. The CPCE is now fully online and will no longer be offered in paper format.

The CPCE is taken off campus at an approved off-site testing center. Fall deadline for test to be taken is October 14th; Spring deadline is March 14th. Summer deadline to be determined by the coordinator as needed. At minimum, to take the CPCE, students will need to register for EDC CPE concurrently with EDC 601A/B (Internship I). It is also recommended that the examination be taken at least one semester before a student’s planned graduation date, ensuring enough time to take the CPCE again if a passing grade is not attained. The course is pass/fail depending upon your score. Additionally, a student may not take the exam more than 3 times. If a student fails the CPCE more than 3 times academic dismissal may occur or remediation may be necessary in accordance with faculty guidance. This is handled on a case by case basis.

Students are encouraged to attend the preparation workshop as well as use Howard Rosenthal's Encyclopedia of Counseling or Andrew Hellwig's Study Guide for the NCE and CPCE in preparing.

Dr. Alyson Pompeo-Fargnoli is the CPCE Coordinator.

APA WRITING STYLE

The Educational Counseling and Leadership Department requires the use of the Publications Manual of the American Psychological Association (APA) 6th Edition (2010) as the guide for all written assignments during the duration of their program. Students in the program should be familiar with this style guide prior to completing and handing in any papers for graduate courses. The APA manual may not be a required text for many of the graduate courses taken; however, students are expected to refer to it for guidance for all written assignments in Educational Counseling courses taken at Monmouth University. A tutorial is provided in EDC 500 and students seeking additional clarification should reference the APA 6 manual or the Purdue Owl at owl.purdue.edu/owl/purdue_owl.html.

Personal Counseling Requirement

It is a requirement of the program that each student experience their own personal counseling prior to Practicum placement. This is essential in order to explore any issues that may impede one’s future work with students, for self-care, and to experience what it is like to the client in the counseling relationship.

Each student must obtain their own personal counselor, via their own health insurance or other forms of payment. While personal counseling is offered for free at Monmouth University, for this specific program requirement, students must seek an outside provider. This provider must be a licensed mental health professional, with one of the following credentials: LPC, LCPC, LCMHC, LAC, LCMFT, LCSW, or equivalent license as approved by the department in advance. At least 3 in-person counseling sessions must be completed (although more are encouraged), before the start of the student's Practicum experience. Proof of these sessions must be on provider letterhead and in the form of listed dates of service (no session details or diagnoses should be provided).

Taking part in personal counseling can be a great opportunity for self-growth, and the department encourages all students to fully and genuinely commit to the process.
FIELD PLACEMENT APPLICATION PROCEDURES

In order to apply for practicum or internship, all students must use the Practicum/Internship Application form link that will be emailed. This online form must be completed entirely and submitted by the application deadline. All forms, instructions and submission of signed, scanned documents are located on the site Educational Counseling Field Experiences on eCampus.

Application deadlines are:

- Summer Internship  December 15 (Student Affairs/College Counseling ONLY)
- Fall Internship  February 15
- Spring Internship  September 15

There will be NO EXCEPTIONS to these due dates. The electronic application system will shut down at midnight on the designated due date, so plan accordingly. Please be advised there will be no acceptance of paper applications — all applications must be submitted electronically. There are NO summer field experience placements for school counseling students; fall and spring ONLY. There are summer placements for student affairs/college counseling students.

You must apply for field placement for each semester you intend to participate, even if you have been placed for a future semester.

Once the deadline has passed, you will be required to meet with program faculty, if this is your first field experience, to discuss your readiness for field experience for the upcoming semester. You will be notified of meeting times and dates and are required to schedule an interview during this time. Failure to attend your scheduled meeting will result in your application for field placement NOT being processed until all requirements are completed.

You are not permitted to make any contact with schools, universities, counselors, superintendents, districts, principals, etc., without verbal/e-mail consultation with Professor O'Connell.

Field placement is a process, and most times, additional information is needed. Please be sure to check your student email daily for updates or requests for additional information.

All forms are now on E-Campus in the Developmental Area listed as Educational Counseling Field Experiences. You will also submit all signed scanned forms in the assigned dropbox each semester.

Once you are placed, you will receive an email from the Clinical Field Placement Coordinator. You will then obtain the forms via E-Campus, in the Educational Counseling Field Experiences site. One is an eight-page contract and the other is a site supervisor form. Your lack of responsiveness can result in a delayed placement.
Since you are required as a student to join the American Counseling Association (ACA), you should be aware that ACA membership includes free liability insurance. ACA provides free liability insurance to student members. We will need a copy of your ACA membership card and policy. You are also required to furnish a copy of your liability insurance certificate each semester you participate in a field placement. These documents are submitted in the dropbox along with related materials.
PLACEMENT

The Field Placement Coordinator will collaborate in every way to secure a placement for your fieldwork experience. We cannot guarantee that the placement will be where you would like and you must be flexible.

If you are a teacher or work in a college/university and plan to complete your field placement at your workplace, arrangements can be made to aid in the process.

Students will register for practicum and internship classes on WebAdvisor during the registration period. If you register for a practicum or internship course and do not complete an application by the above deadlines, you will be removed from the course.

School Counseling
If you are a school counseling student, we would prefer that you try to experience field placement in each of the three levels (elementary, middle, and high school). The reasoning for this is that in the state of New Jersey, you are certificated as a K-12 school counselor regardless of whether you complete your placement at one level or at various levels; however, if you leave the state of New Jersey to pursue employment, you will run into some issues (even in our neighboring states). Taking field experience at each of the three levels will eliminate this issue. Field placements are done by county (Monmouth, Ocean, and Middlesex) only.

Student Affairs/College Counseling
If you are a student affairs and college counseling student, we would prefer you do your field placements in at least two different areas of focus. All SACC students are encouraged to work at both a two-year and four-year institution or a public and private institution to understand the diversity of campus environments. This will allow you more marketability when you graduate. In addition, it is highly recommend that student affairs/college counseling students remain at one site during their internships for a full academic year when possible. Field placements are done by the institution only. You should communicate with both the SACC Field Placement Coordinator, and your university practicum or internship course instructor on all placement matters.

Other Student Affairs/College Counseling Field Placement
NODA/NASPA/ACUHO-I Summer Fellowships
Summer paid internships are available through 3 of the professional organizations in student affairs especially and specifically for graduate students. Students seeking a summer placement for NODA (National Orientation Directors Association) for orientation and transition programs should speak with SACC Track Faculty in the fall as the forms are due in the middle of the spring semester. Students seeking a housing placement for ACUHO-I due in January. International opportunities are due earlier at the end of the fall semester. International opportunities include Australia, Canada, and England. Additionally, NACA for student activities has additional opportunities across the United States.
PROFESSIONAL DISPOSITION

A professional disposition is expected from our students at their practicum/internship sites as well as the university. This includes professional attire, attitude, demeanor and performance. It is the student’s responsibility to uphold the principles of excellence established by our profession and Monmouth University. These professional dispositions are discussed at length during the fieldwork orientations and are as follows.

- Demonstrate professional counseling knowledge, skills, and dispositions including warmth, genuineness, respect, unconditional positive regard, and empathy in interactions with clients, classmates, staff, and faculty.
- Demonstrate the ability to accept and integrate feedback, and to express feelings effectively and appropriately.
- Be aware of your impact on others and accept personal responsibility for your knowledge, behavior, and attitudes.
- Demonstrate knowledge of and compliance with the ACA Code of Ethics and other relevant ethical codes, regulations, and standards of conduct and continuously monitor your own performances accordingly.
- Consult immediately with both your on-site supervisor and instructor if you have an ethical dilemma on-site.
- Report any serious or potentially serious issue (e.g. suicide ideation, threat, neglect, abuse) immediately to your site supervisor/designee, instructor, and/or director of the program. Know and follow institutional policy.
- Behave at all times as a professional counselor — a representative of Monmouth University — and a volunteer worker and guest at the field site.
- Comply with the decisions of your instructor, clinical director, and/or field supervisor. Your progress in the program may be interrupted for failure to comply with academic standards, or if your interpersonal or emotional status interferes with being able to provide ethical and professional counseling services to clients.

*You will be dismissed immediately if you demonstrate inappropriate, immature, disruptive, unprofessional, or offensive behavior during class or field site experience, and not return until successful remediation has been completed and approved by the faculty member, Program Director, and Department Chair.
FIELD PLACEMENT OFFICE-STATE CERTIFICATION (School Counseling Only)

The School of Education Certification Office, located in McAllan Hall Room 110, administers the School Counseling Program’s endorsement. This process requires the student to successfully complete all required courses and field work placement according to the standards set forth by the educational counseling faculty and the standards for the Council of Accredited Counseling and Related Programs (CACREP, 2009). Each student is to contact the certification office to submit appropriate paperwork for state certification as a School Counselor, SAC or DSC. If you are in the school counseling program, this will take place during your Internship II class.

Practicum and Clinical Internship

A minimum of twelve credit hours completed is required for the Practicum at Monmouth University. The counseling student’s field experience is a coordinated placement where he or she can participate in many of the activities that are a fundamental part of school counseling services, student affairs, or college counseling services. A comprehensive site provides the guidance and knowledge to facilitate a counseling student’s growth and competency. During the practicum/internship experience, the on-site supervisor must have a minimum of a Master’s degree in school counseling or Master’s degree related to student affairs/college counseling in order to supervise the internship student. Additionally, the on-site supervisor must have a minimum of two years of professional school counseling or college-level experience. The on-site supervisor is authorized and responsible for providing opportunities for the internship students. These opportunities are designed to engage the internship student in a variety of counseling activities. The Student Assistance Counselor (SAC) supervisor must have a SAC certification and two years of experience as a SAC.

All of the counseling activities including the videotape/audio taping of counseling sessions are used in the evaluation of the internship student’s performance. The components of the practicum and internship courses will include lectures, demonstrations, tapes, readings, presentations and group supervision to develop effective assessment, counseling, consultation, referral, and termination skills commonly used in the practice of professional counseling. The group supervision process is designed to orient the internship students with procedures of clinical supervision. University supervisors are required to administer group supervision sessions of at least 1.5 hours each per week.

EDC 600 Practicum Course

Students and the on-site supervisor will develop a plan to complete required experiences in direct and indirect service activities. Clinical experiences should provide opportunities for students to counsel clients who represent the ethnic and demographic diversity of their communities. The student’s practicum includes all of the following:

- 100 Total Hour Requirement
- 40 Direct Contact Hours
- 60 Indirect Contact Hours
- 2 Videotapes of counseling sessions
- Weekly supervision session with on-site supervisor
- Group supervision sessions with university faculty supervisor

EDC 601 & 602 Internship Courses

Students and the on-site supervisor will develop a plan to complete required experiences in direct and indirect service activities.

Clinical experiences should provide opportunities for students to counsel clients who represent the ethnic and demographic diversity of their communities. The student’s internship includes all of the following:

- 600 Total Hour Requirement
- 240 Direct Contact Hours
- 360 Indirect Contact Hours
- 4 Videotapes of counseling sessions
- Weekly supervision session with on-site supervisor
- Group supervision sessions with university supervisor

The description of contact hours is:

- Direct Contact Hours include: individual, family, crisis, group, advising, and career, counseling and assessment under appropriate on-site supervision.

- Indirect Contact Hours include: (a) in-service training, (b) consultation services, (c) staff meetings, (d) individual and group supervision, (e) transition and referrals, (f) psycho-educational sessions, (g) case conferences, (h) report writing/record keeping, (i) review of professional literature, (j) training of paraprofessional counseling staff, (k) professional development/training, (l) national and regional conferences (m) familiarization of self-help resources (e.g., books, videos), (n) support groups (face-to-face and online), (o) community outreach, and (p) other approved indirect services. Consult with your professor regarding approval.

Taping Requirement

All of the field experience courses require video (or audio) taping of counseling (for school counseling students) or advising (for student affairs/college counseling students) sessions. The preferred method of taping is video; however, in a few districts/colleges audio is the only option. Please make every effort to provide video-taped recordings. The purpose of video-taping counseling (SC)/advising (SACC) sessions is to not only allow your university supervisor an opportunity to go over your counseling (SC)/advising (SACC) skills with you, but your colleagues to provide feedback and tools for more effective counseling (SC)/advising (SACC).
ON-SITE SUPERVISION

The on-site supervisor provides internship students with a minimum supervisory contact of one hour per week. Supervisory contact involves a thorough examination of the internship student’s counseling (SC)/advising (SACC) skills using video tapes, observation, and live supervision. According to the American Counseling Association Code of Ethics (2014) and the Counseling Programs at Monmouth University, the practicum and internship students must abide by the guidelines for professional conduct. Practicum and Internship students can be removed from their placement if violations are reported. The university supervisor closely monitors the student’s performance and compliance with the contract and expectations of the practicum or internship. In collaboration, the on-site and faculty supervisor oversee the total practicum or internship experience for the counseling student. The faculty supervisor is responsible for the individual and group supervision, which is conducted and implemented as a course at the university. The site visit coordinator will have contact with the on-site supervisor in order to schedule an on-site visit to the placement. In addition, faculty supervisor will be available for consultation and clinical supervision for the counseling student as needed. The site supervisor provides written evaluation to the student based on criteria established by the Counseling Programs at Monmouth University.

LIABILITY INSURANCE

Prior to placement, each student is required to obtain and maintain liability insurance. Each semester that students are involved in field placement, they will be required to submit a copy of their insurance certificate to the clinical coordinator. Failure to do so will delay or stop the start of the practicum/internship. Students can access liability insurance through www.hpso.com or through student memberships with ACA.

It is your responsibility as a graduate student to ensure all information is included and correctly saved. If you do not have access to a personal scanner, you may use the one in the Monmouth University library.

Failure to include all information in their proper format will result in a delay of placement for the following semester. If you are in your final internship, failure to include all information will result in a delay of your graduation.

Flash drives will NOT be returned to you
Do NOT include additional information.
