

Help protect your income and lifestyle with Long Term Disability Insurance.

Coverage that can help protect your income when you are unable to work.

Long Term Disability Insurance: why is it so important?

More than one in four of today's 20-year-olds can expect to be out of work for at least a year because of a disabling condition before they reach normal retirement age.¹

Long Term Disability Insurance (LTD) can help protect your income if you are unable to work due to a major injury, chronic condition, cancer or extended illness.

LTD can help you cover essential living expenses, protect your savings, your home and other assets, and help you avoid having to borrow money from friends or family.

Coverage is easily accessible, and the monthly payments are made directly to you. You can use the money for whatever you like, from groceries and gas to your mortgage or rent.

While disabilities may be unexpected, they don't have to be financially devastating.

The majority of long-term absences are due to illnesses, such as cancer, heart attacks and diabetes.²

How much will you need?

A good rule of thumb is to buy enough disability insurance to cover your essential monthly expenses (e.g., mortgage, food, utilities and car payments). For most people, that's about 60%–80% of their income. Use the calculator tool at www.disabilityonlinecalc.com

Why should I enroll?

- Improve your financial security.
- Our application is simple and straightforward, but the benefits are significant. There's no better time to secure your coverage.

Why it pays to have long term disability insurance:

How would you pay your bills if you couldn't work?

- Savings? More than 2 in 3 Americans would be worried about having enough emergency savings to cover a month's worth of living expenses.³
- Social Security Disability? Given its strict definitions of what qualifies as a disability, federal help may be unavailable. Approximately 67% of initial Social Security Disability Insurance claims are denied.⁴
- Workers' compensation? Only if you were injured on the job.⁵

Long term disability coverage from MetLife may pay between 40–70% of your pre-disability income for an extended period. You will receive benefits for as long as you remain disabled and unable to work, until retirement age. You can also earn financial incentives by participating in MetLife-approved rehabilitation programs. These programs are designed to help you recover financially and functionally.

Your benefit in action:

If you experience a major injury or chronic illness, submitting a claim doesn't have to be difficult. Here's what to expect:

Depending on your plan, you can submit your claim by phone, mail or visiting metlife.com/mybenefits. Plus, you can track the status of your claim online.

Answer a few simple questions about what happened and upload your medical documentation to support your claim. Once we have everything, claims are typically processed within 10 business days. You only need one claim form per injury or illness and every claim is reviewed by a claims professional.

Once your claim is approved, you'll receive monthly or weekly payments depending on your plan. Use the funds however you like.

Consider this:

Anita is diagnosed with an autoimmune disorder leaving her temporarily paralyzed. While she's unable to work for eight months, her disability insurance pays a percentage of her income each month, allowing her to focus on her recovery without worrying about where her next paycheck would come from.

This is a hypothetical example for illustrative purposes only. Individual experiences may vary based on your plan design, where you live and whether your plan requires a deductible or coinsurance. Please see your Plan Summary for details about your coverage.
