The Monmouth University Principals' Academy Holds Professional Development Forum, "Time Management and Evaluation Responsibilities"

Thursday, December 12, 2013: The Monmouth University Principals' Academy held a Professional Development Forum, "Time Management and Evaluation Responsibilities" in Magill Commons where over 20 districts participated. The panel facilitating the discussion was comprised of the following principals: Linda Downing, East Dover Elementary School; Corey Radisch, Matawan-Aberdeen Middle School; and William Smith, Raritan High School. The panel discussed "Time Management and Evaluation Responsibilities" and answered questions from the academy members.

The Academy's mission is to create a forum for dialogue and an exchange of ideas and experiences. Using the university as a catalyst, the academy provides professional growth opportunities for administration that focuses on dynamic leadership that promotes reflective practice and affects teacher and student learning. Furthermore, it creates a network of support for colleagues and establishes a collaborative relationship with the university and faculty.
