Monmouth University was founded in 1933 as the Central Jersey Shore’s first center of higher education. Its beginning was attended by an outpouring of support from the state’s educational community and great expectations of good. Now in the year 2012, Monmouth University celebrates its history and enjoys its role as a forward looking, comprehensive university.

Today, well launched into its second half century, Monmouth has fulfilled its early expectations. The University’s 156-acre campus in suburban West Long Branch connects Monmouth with New Jersey’s historic past. Woodrow Wilson Hall, the University’s administrative center, is a National Historic Landmark, and the Guggenheim cottage, a wing of the Monmouth University Library, is listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

Monmouth University serves an enrollment of approximately 6,000 undergraduate and graduate students—a richly diverse group that comes from 29 states and from 30 foreign nations. The student body includes traditional-age students, young professionals pursuing advanced studies, and men and women resuming studies in preparation for a career change or for personal enrichment. Within Monmouth’s eight schools—the Leon Hess Business School, the Wayne D. McMurray School of Humanities and Social Sciences, the School of Education, the School of Science, the School of Social Work, the Marjorie K. Unterberg School of Nursing and Health Studies, the Honors School, and the Graduate School—students pursue their studies in 55 different undergraduate and graduate degree programs. At Monmouth, students participate in more than 80 extracurricular organizations and special interest activities, in addition to an NCAA Division I Athletics program, which fields 20 men’s and women’s teams.

All Commencement participants and guests are requested to remain in their seats until the conclusion of the ceremony and the faculty and platform party process out. You are to please refrain from the use of cellphones and other electronic devices during the ceremony.
Dr. Mark A. Emmert became the fifth president of the NCAA in October 2010. Prior to assuming his current role, Dr. Emmert had been president at his alma mater, University of Washington, since 2004 where he led the university to its standing as second among all public and private institutions in research funding with $1 billion in grants and contracts per year. Before returning to his alma mater, Dr. Emmert was chancellor at Louisiana State University from 1999 to 2004.

Among his administrative appointments in higher education, he was chief operating and academic officer at the University of Connecticut (1995 to 1999), provost and vice-president for academic affairs at Montana State University (1992 to 1995), and associate vice chancellor for academic affairs at the University of Colorado (1985 to 1992).

Dr. Emmert is a member of the Higher Education Working Group on Global Issues as part of the Council on Foreign Relations. He is the former chair of the Executive Group of the Worldwide Universities Network, and served on the National Security Higher Education Advisory Board.

He was a National Academy of Public Administration Fellow, an American Council on Education Fellow, and a J. W. Fulbright Administrative Fellow. He has written extensively on higher education and public administration over a career that spans the last 30 years.

A Washington native, Dr. Emmert earned his bachelor of arts degree in political science from the University of Washington and has both a master’s degree and a PhD in public administration from Syracuse University.

Dr. Emmert and his wife, DeLaine, have two adult children, Jennifer and Stephen.
The summer of her senior year in high school, Joan Heilbrunn (Joan Rechnitz to be, two years later), studied fine art in a special program at Harvard University earning six college credits which she transferred to the University of Colorado where she majored in studio art and art history. Her college education was temporarily interrupted when she married Robert Rechnitz the summer of her sophomore year.

She moved with her husband to New Jersey where he taught at Monmouth College for the next thirty-five years. Joan—while raising three children—served the Monmouth County community as board member of “Friends of the Parks,” which supports the Monmouth County Park System; as board member of the “Volunteer Center of Monmouth County,” which, in 2001, awarded her the Community Commitment from the Heart Award; as board member of the Women’s Council for the Cancer Center of Monmouth Medical Center, while continuing her art and other classes, receiving her BA from Monmouth in 1984.

During all this time and in the years yet to come, she served as artistic associate, confidant, and clear thinking advisor to her husband’s various forays into producing theater. Doing summer theater at Monmouth College and in Milford, PA, Joan worked as a marketer, designing and painting posters, logos, and highway billboards, as scenic painter, as assistant costume designer, as orange drink seller, and as involved in the crazy and endless tasks of managing a summer theater on very little money.

For the Two River Theater Company she made cogent and powerful suggestions for the design and look of their present building. For the nineteen or so years of the theater’s life, she has worked in countless ways to strengthen and rationalize the theater; as a consequence she has been the recipient of a great number of commendations from the town of Red Bank, from Monmouth County, and most recently another from the state of New Jersey, signed with special commendations and praise by Governor Chris Christie. In 2005, she received the Red Bank River Center Ambassador Award. In 2010, she received the Silver Gull Award from the Monmouth-Ocean Development Council.
DISTINGUISHED TEACHER AWARD, 2012 RECIPIENT

GARY W. LEWANDOWSKI JR, PhD

Dr. Gary W. Lewandowski Jr. is an associate professor in the Department of Psychology at Monmouth University. He received his BA from Millersville University of Pennsylvania in 1998, and his PhD in Social/Health Psychology from the State University of New York at Stony Brook in 2002.

Dr. Lewandowski’s research focuses on the role of the self in close relationships, including interpersonal attraction, relationship maintenance, infidelity, and break-up. He has published over twenty articles in academic journals, authored fourteen book chapters, received twelve grants, has given over eighty conference presentations, and has co-edited a book The Science of Relationships: Answers to Your Questions About Dating, Marriage and Family (the vast majority of these endeavors involve students as coauthors). Dr. Lewandowski also serves as a member of the editorial board for the Journal of Social and Personal Relationships, and as a co-editor/co-creator of www.ScienceOfRelationships.com. In recognition of these efforts, Dr. Lewandowski received the 2011 Emerging Researcher Award from the New Jersey Psychology Association and was inducted into the Society for Experimental Social Psychologists.

Dr. Lewandowski’s work and expertise has been featured in a number of media outlets including: The New York Times, CNN, Science Daily, United Press International, Woman’s World, Marie Claire, WebMD, Self Magazine, Woman’s Day, Cosmopolitan Magazine, Ladies Home Journal, Women’s Health, Men’s Health, and USA Today.

Dr. Lewandowski’s teaching has been recently recognized in the Princeton Review’s, The Best 300 Professors, which profiles professors who were selected from an initial list of 42,000 professors.

Dr. Lewandowski lives in Oceanport with his wife, Colleen, and their four-year-old daughter, Avery.

Message to the Graduates from Dr. Gary W. Lewandowski

Congratulations on the culmination of many years of hard work and dedication. It is my honor and privilege to share this day with you. On these occasions where we celebrate individual accomplishments, it is important to acknowledge how others have helped along the way. For me, as a first generation college student many years ago, I’m here today because of my family, friends, and to an incalculable degree, my own college professors. Now, as a professor myself, I’m also here because I have been fortunate to have the most amazing students over the years, and I am grateful that they have shared a part of their life with me.

As you head off into the world, know that graduation is not a sign that your learning has ended. Rather, it has just begun. Your degree is less about the facts you have memorized, and more about the way education has changed the way you think, and the way you look at the world. If your time at Monmouth has made you more skeptical, more curious, and more determined to make a difference in the world, we have done our job.

As you work on making a difference, will you know whether you are on the right path? Nope. But don’t worry, no one knows for sure. The good news is that you don’t need to have it all figured out. Take your best guess, then be flexible, never turn down a challenge, and remain committed to constant improvement. As you do, don’t be afraid to fail. Every successful person has failed, been rejected, been turned down, and wanted to quit. Steve Jobs was once fired from Apple. J.K. Rowling repeatedly had her Harry Potter manuscript rejected. Both were ultimately successful because they continued to take chances, pursued things they were passionate about, and refused to quit.

Finally, as you begin the next phase of your life, always remember that life’s success is not measured by the dollars you make or the recognition you receive, but by your ability to improve and enrich the lives of those around you. Congratulations and best wishes for all of the success life will bring you!

THE ACADEMIC PROCESSION AND REGALIA

For the benefit of our visitors’ the following information, digested from “An Academic Costume Code and Ceremony Guide” prepared by the American Council on Education, may prove helpful in identifying the costumes you will see in the Commencement procession.

The history of academic dress reaches far back into the earliest days of the oldest universities. A statute of 1321 required that all “Doctors, Licentiates, and Bachelors” of the University of Coimbra wear gowns. In England, in the second half of the fourteenth century, the statutes of certain colleges prescribed the wearing of a long gown. In the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries in Europe, the wearing of a robe often signified a degree candidate’s political or religious affiliation; in the northern universities and those of the British Isles, the robes signified that tuition and boarding fees of the wearer had been paid and also entitled him to special immunities in civil law—as well as providing him warmth at lectures and chapel.

When American colleges and universities desired to adopt some suitable system of academic apparel, a conference held at Columbia University in 1895, made up of representatives from various institutions, drew up a “By-Law, Regulation, or Statute” for the establishment of a suitable code of academic dress for colleges and universities in the United States. This code, with modifications made in 1959 by the Committee on Academic Costumes and Ceremonies of the American Council on Education, is still in force; the costumes and colors, trimmings, and patterns you will see are traditional, and interpret both the degree and field of learning. The bachelor’s gown, designed to be worn closed, has pointed sleeves; the master’s gown, which may be worn open or closed, has an oblong sleeve open at the wrist that hangs down in the traditional manner. The rear part of its oblong shape is square cut, and the front part has the arc cut away. The doctor’s gown has bell-shaped sleeves. It may be worn open or closed.

Black is the recommended color for all academic gowns. Bachelor’s and master’s gowns are untrimmed. Doctor’s gowns are faced with black velvet, with three bars across the sleeves, or the color of the velvet may be that which is distinctive to the degree, agreeing with that of the edging of the hood. In the 1960s, many American land-grant universities adopted the British and the Scottish tradition of using the official school color(s) for the robes of their doctoral recipients—for instance, Yale: sky blue; Harvard: crimson; University of Pennsylvania: scarlet and blue; Columbia: slate gray; Rutgers: deep red and black.

The colors you will see in the hoods of our faculty represent the various fields in which the degrees were taken:

The hoods, differing in length for the three degrees—bachelor’s, master’s, and doctor’s—are lined with the official colors of the university or college conferring the degree, usually with one color forming a chevron pattern over the other. Hoods are edged and bound with velvet or the color appropriate for the degree. You will see in our procession many hoods edged with dark blue, representing doctor of philosophy.

Mortarboards are the approved headgear. The tassel, worn on the left side of the cap, may be of gold if the holder has a doctor’s degree.

In the procession, first come the faculty members, then the candidates for degrees arranged in the order in which degrees are to be conferred, and finally, the speakers, trustees, administrative officers, candidates for honorary degrees, and other members of the platform party.
