This year 33% of Monmouth University full-time undergraduate students were hired through the Student Employment Office.

Monmouth participates in the National Student Employment Week, April 12 - 18, 2015, and pampers those student employees with thousands of dollars in free gifts.

Student Employee Appreciation Day is filled with surprise vendors, homemade food, luncheons, balloons, live music and coupons, coupons, coupons! The suspense is building, as we discuss the Student Employee of the Year competition. 17 students were nominated and are critiqued on their initiative, reliability, quality of work, professionalism and contribution to the University.

Multiple awards are given out at the awards ceremony, including Honorable Mentions, and of course, Student Employee and Supervisor of the Year awards.

Congratulations and thank you to MU’s 1,375 student employees & 260 supervisors!

Annual “Deck Your Door” Contest

Monmouth’s 7th Annual “Deck Your Door” contest has become a highly competitive event. Participation has grown substantially and departments have strong door designs every year. This year’s competition will feature two winning categories: Most Original and Best Student Employment Message.

What do departments win? Well, it’s never really about the prize so much as the chance to tell your friends that you won! The real winners are the Student Employees who we honor and thank in every display.

It’s arts & crafts time everyone—ready, set, go! And may the best doors win!
