Dear Monmouth Campus Community,

We need your input! The strategic planning process involves the engagement of the entire Monmouth University community — faculty, staff, and administration. This means that the strategic plan steering committee and theme-based committees will reach out to the entire campus community, listen to your ideas, collect information, and write the strategic plan.

The authenticity and value of the strategic plan hinges on total community involvement. Because so much of our efforts depend on information gathering, we need to hear from you regarding how you would like to provide information. Tell us who we should be talking with, how best to reach staff and faculty, and what mediums or forums you want to employ to share ideas and aspirations. Go to the survey below to share ideas on strategies to connect with the campus community: https://www.surveymonkey.com/s/QGSJYLX

Visit the strategic plan website to read about the rationale for strategic planning, view frequently asked questions, and see the planning timeline. Check back to find information for upcoming events. And, please contact us through the site with information, questions, or other concerns: www.monmouth.edu/strategicplan

Sincerely,

The MU Strategic Plan Steering Committee
