MU Celebrates 17 Years of Honoring Students and Supervisors

This year 30% of Monmouth University undergraduate students work through the Student Employment Office. Monmouth participates in the National Student Employment Week, April 7 - 13, 2013, by pampering its student employees with over $9,000 in free gifts.

Student Employee Appreciation Day is filled with surprise vendors, homemade food, luncheons, balloons, live music and coupons, coupons, coupons.

The suspense is building, as we discuss the Student Employee of the Year competition. 19 nominees are critiqued on their initiative, reliability, quality of work, professionalism and contribution to the University. Multiple awards are given out at the awards ceremony, including Honorable Mentions, a Federal Work Study Community Service Award winner and of course, Supervisor of the Year.

11 supervisors are nominated and we can’t wait to see who will take home all of the awards this year. Congratulations & thank you to MU’s 1,300 student employees & 230 supervisors!

Annual “Deck Your Door” Contest

Monmouth’s 5th Annual “Deck Your Door” contest has become a highly competitive event. Participation has grown substantially and departments have strong door designs every year. This year’s competition will feature three winning categories: Most Original, Most Creative and Best Heartfelt Message.

What do departments win? Well, it’s never really about the prize so much as the chance to tell your friends that you won! The real winners are the Student Employees who we honor and thank in every display.

It’s arts & crafts time everyone—ready, set, go! And may the best doors win!

Judging Thursday, April 11th.
